German operator FAI rent-a-jet AG just took delivery of a factory-new Falcon 900 DX, which is available for the VIP-Charter market with immediate effect.

The aircraft is loaded with more than $ 3 M. in options and represents the latest cockpit- and cabin-technology available on the market.

The aircraft will be available for viewing at EBACE, Geneva 12 to 14 May, 2009.

With delivery of the Falcon, aircraft no. 11 has joined FAI's fleet of business Jets, which consists in addition to the Falcon of 10 Learjet-Bombardier-Aircraft (2 x 35 A-R/X, 5 x 55, 3 x 60).

FAI just had announced the launch of its new Hangar project at Nuremberg International Airport which reflects another EUR 5 M. + invest. Groundbraking is scheduled for September this year.

"Specialized in worldwide Air Ambulance and NGO-Business in Africa, FAI is one of the few companies in General Aviation not much effected by the financial crisis compared to other operators and therefore will continue its fleet expansion by another two jets before end of this year," FAI's Chairman Siegfried Axtmann stated in an interview.
